

Redemption

by bookqueen173

Category: Fairy Tail

Genre: Romance

Language: English

Characters: Erza S., Jellal F./Siegrain

Pairings: Jellal F./Siegrain/Erza S.

Status: In-Progress

Published: 2016-04-11 03:05:02

Updated: 2016-04-26 03:42:17

Packaged: 2016-04-27 20:07:53

Rating: M

Chapters: 3

Words: 2,427

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: What if Jellal was free. No longer running from the magic council and the law but it will take time to get there. Until his trial with the council he will have to stay in the custody of one of Fairy Tail's S-class. Problem all of them either have no space or are gone but one. That leaves Erza to watch him and follow him on his path to freedom. Jerza, minor Nalu & Gale some OOCness.

1. Chapter 1

Chapter 1

Erza's POV:

I duck my head to avoid the table that's flying my way. Why, just why couldn't I enjoy my piece of heavenly strawberry cake. I gasp as my cake is brutally destroyed. Usually I attempt to ignore them if I'm eating cake but they've gone too far and destroyed my cake. I'm about to go all scary demon Erza on them, when I see a familiar head of blue where my cake once laid.

I couldn't believe my eyes, "J-j-jellal?" I stutter. I had already forgotten about my cake and was more interested in what stood before me. "What are you doing here?"

Unfazed by my stutter he seamlessly replies, "I have been writing to master Makarov about getting my freedom and he has asked for me to meet him here. I am about to meet him so I guess I will have to talk to you later. Will you come to the Magnolia bakery to get some cake with me afterwards?" I squeal inside at the prospect of cake and him.

"Well I will come with you to master's office and go in with you. I am S class so I am cleared to hear basically any information. That way you can't forget about our arrangement afterwards." I couldn't say date because that would have made it really awkward. We walk up to master's office avoiding the tables being throw around. Before we go in I yell, "Natsu and Gray stop fighting, and the rest of you better behave or I will make the next week torture for you, literally. And Mira no matchmaking, people control their own love lives not you. Ultear and Meredy that includes you too. I will know if any of you tries anything." As I finish we walk into masters office.

"Ah Erza you too. Well I guess then I explain the situation better. So at Jellal's request I have went and persuades the magic council to hold a trail for Jellal, and the rest of Crime Soiree. Hopefully he won't be convicted, as if he is found guilty again he will be executed without mercy. The magic council knows he here at fairy tail so we have come to an agreement. Until the trail an S-class mage will have to be with him at all times. Since you know him best, you will take constant watch of him for a few days until Laxus gets back and he can keep watch at night. His trial is in two weeks so you have time to spare and maybe get to know Jellal better than you already do." As master finished his speech we got up and started to walk to the door. "Oh by the way Mira has heard everything we have spoken of, courtesy of bribing Natsu to tell her everything he hears, and is now squealing and muttering Blue haired, black eyed babies. So beware and be safe." As we walk out I begin to think when master said be safe I don't think he meant careful not to trip safe.

Descending down the stairs, I glare right into Mira's eyes and she see's how serious I am and gives me the same intensity of a glare back. IT is like we are children again, constantly bickering and hating each other. For the longest time we wouldn't be in the same room without fighting. Though now years have past and Mira's more passive than she was before. The She Devil is gone unless you insult her ships then you better run. I grab Jellal's wrist and yell, "Ultear and Meredy you can stay with one of the girls from Fairy Hills. Jellal will stay with me. Come on Jellal I will show you where you will be staying until Laxus gets back. " We walk out of the guild and head in a different direction Fairy hills. Before he can say anything i tell him, " I have a private residence besides Fairy hills which stores the amours that don't fit into my residences at the dorm. It has some spare bedrooms just for this situation."

An: New author I apologize for any mistakes and stuff. I don't have a beta yet but if anyone wants to be I would greatly appreciate it. Anyway feedback would be nice! If it's not constructive and just hate please don't review it. Anyway I plan on continuing this and it will probably be in a week or two and this chapter will probably be edited too.

Peace out people

-Bookqueen173

2. Chapter 2

Chapter 2

We walk for what seems like hours, though Magnolia, and into the woods until we reach a large four story mansion. Jellal's mouth drops to the ground at the size of this place. "How many people actually know about this place Erza and why don't you live here? It's humongous."

I look over my shoulder to him and reply, "Well only the S-class mages and you know about this place. I need somewhere to go when Natsu and Gray annoy me too much and I don't want them coming into Fairy hills. Also it's too big to live in. I mostly use it for armors and weapons. Come on I still think I have some food left." I turned away from him and walked to the front entrance. He still stood there gaping like a fish out of water and I knew I would have to tell him to move or he never will. "You know Jellal I don't bite and you will be completely safe with me. That is if you don't steal my cake or harm it in any way way again. I let you off once but if it happens again I will give you the same punishments I give everyone else. You won't be safe anywhere again if I catch my cake being murdered by you." He shivered slightly and I knew I have scared him enough .

"Come on Jellal you know I wouldn't really hurt you unless you try anything funny, even then i probably wouldn't resist." I give him a little wink and turn back into the mansion. I can slightly see a scarlet blush that rivals my hair grace his face. I am just noticing now that he isn't that little kid I knew years ago. He as grown into a man and a handsome one at that. Man I would love a piece of him. Wait what am I thinking. I walk to the kitchen to prepare supper and I let my mind go blank as I prepare the food.

Jellal's POV

I blush as she winks at me thinking at the prospect of what she said. huffing I grab my kit and walk up the steps of the mansion. Who would think Erza of all people would own something that large. well it isn't surprising since she grew up with absolutely nothing that she would want it all. I go upstairs to try and find a room that wasn't occupied by armor. It takes three tries until I find a bedroom with an actual bed in it. Opening the door I find that it is covered in dirty clothes and books everywhere. Most of these books with shirtless men and half naked women draped over them. Does Erza seriously read this crap. Soon I realize I shouldn't be judging her or going through her stuff. I walk out and try the next room over. Thankfully it has a bed and no armor threatening to trample me in the middle of the night. I drop my bag and fall on the bed. I've be traveling all day and am exhausted, I fall asleep almost instantly.

I wake up to the smell of something cooking downstairs. I walk to the source not bothering to fix my awful hair that is going everywhere, at least more than usual. I walk down attempting to find the kitchen. I eventually find it but not after running into a few dead ends. "Hey Erz, what's cooking?" I can see her cheeks blush as I call her the nickname I used to when we were kids.

Replying to my question she tells me, " It's dinner, jelly bear." I just knew she was going to call me by that name.

"Are we eating cake for dinner? You know that's really unhealthy Erz." She shrugs her shoulders and finishes the icing on the cake. She brings it over to the table I'm sitting at. The cake is a towering 5 layers and takes up a third of her round dining table. It looks like it could feed the entire guild. She slices a piece for each of us and start chatting over dinner. We talk about what been happening to use the past few years over dinner and before we know it it is midnight.

_AN: So I've decided I'll post every Monday_____or so. Don't bite my head off if I am a day or two late. Also I am still in need of a beta, so just PM me or review if you want to. Once I get a beta there will be less mistakes. Also reviews make me update fast and longer chapters. _

-Bookqueen173

3. Chapter 3

I forgot to state this earlier but I don't own Fairy Tail or it's characters. Hiro Mashima does. If I did Jerza would be cannon

Chapter 3

Saying our farewells to each other I try to find my room. After what seems like hours I find the room with my stuff in it. I change into my boxers and a tank top and climb into bed. I think of how far we have come. Just a few years ago we were fighting and she thought I was dead for a bit. Now I am sleeping in her house. Well of course that is due to the fact that I have to stay in the house of a s-class mage or higher. But still I can tell she is beginning to forgive my sins. Things were starting to go back to the friendship we had in the tower. Like she started calling me by the nickname she did when we were kids. Looking at the time lacrima I realize it's late and I know Fairy Tail won't be quiet and peaceful tomorrow. I needed to sleep. My body relaxes and I feel the pull of sleeping but, just as I begin to fall asleep I hear screaming from the room over. Knowing the scream's owner instantly, I rush out of bed running to Erza's side.

When I arrive she is tossing and turning in bed, pulling her hair out like it was on fire on her head. I quickly climb into bed with her, holding her head to my chest stroking her hair. "It's alright I'm here, your jelly bear is here." I repeat that over and over again like a manta. She eventually calms down and wakes up. Looking confused she asks "What are you in my bed for Jellal?" Her voice filled with curiosity.

"I heard you screaming and I couldn't stand to hear you scream like that. You sounded hurt and in pain. So i came to comfort you." Still stroking her hair and holding her to his chest he continues. "What was your dream about. You can tell me I won't judge or anything. I will always be here when and if you need me."

She takes a shaky breath and says, "It was a nightmare about the tower of heaven. But before you say any crap about being sorry for what you did it actually wasn't about you. Well it was but not in the way I know you will rant about how sorry you are about it. It was about me well losing you. So it wasn't really a dream more of a memory. When you let yourself be absorbed by the lacrima and I thought you were dead, I cried silently for days. I find it hard to admit but I think, no I know I have always loved you. But in what way I don't really know."

For a second I thought she was confessing her undying love for me but I guess she wasn't. Still she said she loved me. "Well Erz, if ever want me to be something more than a friend to you I will never refuse." I hope she catches on to what I am saying.

"Well then jelly-bear, maybe I will take you up on that offer but not tonight. I am very tired and I know those two lunatics I call team mates will want to go on a mission or will just be very rowdy tomorrow. So I would like to sleep now." I start to move and get up but she pulls me back down. "Don't leave me please. I long for another person's comfort at night and well I don't really want to be alone because I know I will have another nightmare. So just stay. Please."

"Okay, but just sleeping right." I ask her softly as I lay down and wrap my arm around her.

"Yes you dimwit." She then snuggles up to my chest and takes a deep breath. I sit there quietly and watch her. I know I probably look like a creep but I can't help that as she looks so beautiful. Long after her breathing slowed down and evened out, I start to close my eyes and go to sleep.

AN:

Today's Fairy Tail chapter has just about killed me. Like what ever happened to the wow how could this pink kid have the rare dragon slaying magic. Like now it's like its normal to be a slayer and everyone seems to be dying then coming back to life then almost dying. Like Mashima make up your mind!

Next week's chapter might be a bit late because I have a really busy week and I won't have any time. Also want longer chapters then I'd like some more reviews. reviews inspire me to write more. In addition I'd like some opinions on what should happen next and a general how this story is going to go. You want more of one thing then I will write more of said thing. Lastly I still need a beta and pm me if you want to be one.

Peace out people

~Bookqueen173

End
file.